Hello everybody. Good to see you. Good to see every person that is listening online, that is listening. I don't know how a talk she was working looks like. It's probably not working very well at all. But it looks like Mixlr is working well. So praise God for that. Let me see if I can muster up enough energy and breath to blow this so far. This Graham's horn. Let me have a few seconds here.

Lord, Heavenly Father, thank you Lord for the breath of life. Thank you Lord for any and every one of us that are not in the hospital at this moment.

Me and every one of us that are not blind up or mute at this moment or lean at this moment. Thank you Lord that we are able to see or to seek or to walk or to take a breath if we are so blessed. Praise your Holy Name.

Please help us Lord to not forget such huge things that are not little things. Help us remember those that are sick and afflicted. Those that are in the hospitals and prisons. Those that are mentally ill or physically ill. Please help us to think of them often.

Remember them in our prayers, in our minds and hearts. We are, every one of us, the only flesh and blood and human subject to many afflictions, trawls and sicknesses upon this earth.

That we must keep our eyes upon your kingdom, Lord Father, upon the famous line. We must look to the city built not by human hands but by Christ in heaven.

That new Jerusalem that shall descend out of heaven upon this earth, actually upon a newly remodeled earth, but still this earth.

Paradise without tears, without pain, without death, without suffering, without sickness, without any more trials and tests, without any more corruption, lies and destruction.

Without any wicked thing, that ultimate paradise of newly remodeled heavens and earth, what a great and glorious day that will be. Please fix us, save us, deliver us from anything and everything that would prevent us from being there in that ultimate paradise.

We must fix our hearts, our minds, our brains, our thinking, our behaviors, our doctrines, our teachings, our lives. So is the truth and help us to walk therein. For you are the way, the truth and the life.

Praise your holy name. We accept your anointing and blessing on the message that we're about to receive. For the edification of the church, for the growth of the church, for the benefit of the kingdom of God, for the glory of the Father, in Jesus' name. Amen. Praise Jesus. Amen. Praise God.

Let's turn to the book of John. John chapter 9. I praise Jesus for the divine miracle confirmation of this sermon. Because John 9 is the key verse, even though we'll look at a couple other verses as well, chapters, books. But John 9 is the key verse to the sermon.

And after I had already finished preparing the sermon last night, I went to lay down on the couch to rest, surfing the internet, and very soon, very soon, it didn't take long, that I saw this news article just posted yesterday.

Brand new news article, same day, talking about the biblical archaeological discovery of the very location of John chapter 9. The very location that Jesus healed the blind man who was blind from birth.

That pool of water. Now they had discovered it previously, before this year, but they've been digging it up and preparing it for public view.

And these were the first public pictures being released to the public yesterday, and that was what the article was about, and that it was opened to the public for people to visit in person there in the city of David, Jerusalem, Israel, our homeland, every one of us. Praise God.

So, that's divine miracle confirmation of today's sermon. It is no coincidence, it can't be coincidence, that that particular article, the pictures released to the public for the first time on the very day, the very day of me preparing the sermon with that particular verse began the key verse. That's God. That is Jesus, Almighty, the Alpha, and the Omega. Amen.

That is our Heavenly Father manifesting His presence in this ministry, as He has done so many multiple times. It's a miracle that you don't see very often at all in the churches of the world. The Sunday churches, the Trinity churches, the Christian and Eastern churches, the Apostolic, Pentecostal, so-called, falsely called Protestant churches, Catholic churches, and all the isms, religions of the world.

You don't constantly see miracles there. But you do here constantly see miracles, and we will continue to see miracles. God has not forsaken this church. God has not forsaken His own people, His own church.

But He does have a master plan. And we can't see nor understand every part of the future and how that relates to His master plan. But trust me, He is working something out. Amen.

All things will work together for the good. Romans 8. For those that are called. For those that are chosen. For those that love God, truly love God. That means that they are willing to surrender to Him.

They're willing to submit to Him 100 percent, obey Him, keep His ten commandments, keep the seventh day Sabbath every Saturday, even if it means losing their jobs, keep the holy days, even if it means losing their jobs, that God comes first.

Only one religion, only one church, only one pastor per person. It is the real and true narrow path, not the broad way to destruction. Amen.

For those that choose to surrender to Him, it will all work out in the end. We'll still be thrown trials and tribulations and afflictions upon this earth for as long as we dwell in the flesh. We can't escape that reality.

But in the end, as long as we cross that finish line as a winner, as more than a conqueror, we will be in that ultimate paradise, restoration of the Garden of Eden upon the entire earth.

And there'll be no more death and pain and sorrow, and there'll be no memory of the trials and testing and death and misery, the only joy, the only happiness forever. And that's good. Amen. Praise God.

In John chapter 9, let's start reading in verse 1. Now for people that might be listening for the first time, we're reading from the Alpha and Omega Bible, a restoration of the original Scriptures using older manuscripts than what the King James Version was based upon.

But you're welcome to follow along in any translation that you might have in front of you. I really encourage you to get your Bible, actually open it up to this page, instead of just reading on the internet or just listening.

I want you to look in the paper pages of the Bible, a real, real Bible that you can actually touch and flip the pages because there is tremendous and wonderful power in a real Bible.

There is so much more power in a real, physical, paperback, hardback Bible than what there is on these online electronic editions. You're not going to feel the power of God in those things.

But you will feel the power of God by touching a real Bible, if you're willing to believe it and obey it, which is the problem for most people.

But in John chapter 9, verse 1, is where we're starting here, and that's page 116 if you do have a paperback version of the Alpha and Omega Bible. Page 116, just waiting for people to catch up.

John 9, verse 1, and he passed by, as he passed by, he saw a man, Jesus did, he saw a man who had been blind from birth, always his entire life the man was blind.

And his disciples, his students, asked him, asked Jesus, Rabbi or Master, who sinned? This man or his parents? His fault is here, that he would be born blind.

Jesus answered, neither this man sinned, nor his parents, but so that the works of Theos might be displayed or manifested in him. Amen?

Let's think about that. And let me make a note, please give me a minute here, because I'm going to change displayed to the possibility of saying manifested, and I will have to look that up in Greek before I definitely change it.

But there's a possibility in verse 3, that where it says displayed, that I might update to manifest it, but I will have to investigate that.

But either way, it would be the same, regardless of the translation. That Jesus answers that this man's sickness or affliction or physical element, physical problem, the blindness, was not the result of anyone's sin.

But rather, that the power or the glory of God would eventually be displayed or manifested in this man. In other words, he was going to heal that man, he did heal that man, he was no longer blind, and it happened at that pool that they released the pictures of just yesterday.

And it's one of the most well known events of the New Testament. And we have the archaeological proof of the existence of that particular, specific water pool. Praise Jesus. Amen?

What I'm saying today, in this sermon, is that a lot of "Christians", and I say that with quote marks around it, because there's a lot of people who think they are saved, and they are not.

And that's actually the majority of so-called Christians and people that go to churches, and even people that listen to this broadcast. It's a huge problem.

People have a very, very difficult time to examine themselves, test themselves, and come to realize, very difficult for people to realize, that they are lost. It's a matter of pride and stubbornness.

The sad reality is, they might even fast a whole lot. They might fast more than anyone I know, and still be a boss, and blind, and deceived, and still think that they're saved.

It's a huge problem. And I see it all the time. But the problem, another problem is, what I'm really getting to, what I was trying to get to, is these people, these Christians who think they are saved, that want to condemn and wrongfully judge situations about people's mental health, and physical health. Or that person has cancer, or that person has this, or that person has that, or this person is blind, or this person is deaf, or this person has schizophrenia, whatever the situation may be.

This person has depression, or bipolar, or autism, or this or that. It must be sin. It must be the devil. It must be something they did wrong. It must be darkness. It must be sweetened working.

I did a sermon recently, a few weeks ago now, where we talked about that there's a lot of people who always think that every little thing that happens is either God or Satan.

If they stub their toe, or have a flat tire, or lose their job, or gain a job, everything, everything, everything that happens is God or Satan. And it's simply not true.

Because the majority of things that happen to you is the consequences of your own actions, your own decisions. You went out and applied for the job. God did not give it to you.

You're the one that was not a good worker, and got fired, whatever, different situations. It's not always spiritual warfare.

A lot of times, the majority of times, you are your own enemy, and your own benefit. If you work with your hands, if you work good, if you do good, if you do good in life, you make the right decisions.

It's not necessarily God blessing you, but the fruit of your good decisions and your good works.

Now, I'm not discounting the involvement of good and evil in the world. I'm not discounting the involvement of God, and good angels, and bad angels, and Satan.

Those things do happen, and spiritual warfare is real, and judgment is real, and chastisement is real, and blessings, and curses, and all these things from the heavenlies are real.

But, the majority of events in your life is the fruit, the result, of your good works, and bad works, and good decisions, and bad decisions.

God is not moving everything in your life for you as if you are an infant. Amen?

But people think that God and Satan is doing every little thing in their life as if we are only robots without free will. And the same is true with sickness, and disease, and mental illness, and schizophrenia.

Christians, some of them, have a hard time accepting that mental illness and schizophrenia are real conditions of the brain, brain chemicals, brain functions, and stuff like that.

But the reality is that some mental illness and some schizophrenia, and actually a large degree and large number, is absolutely physical illness of brain chemicals, brain function, thyroid, hormones, vitamin deficiency, stuff like that.

Now, I know there are exceptions. I know that there is such thing as demon possession. I know that some people have been misdiagnosed, and they diagnosed with schizophrenia, or mental illness, when really it's demon possession.

I know that that happens a lot as well. I'm not discrediting that. I'm not ignoring that. I'm not ignorant of that. I'm not a teenager, or a younger, or an infant.

I realize things like that really happen in this world. Demons are real. Demon possession is real. Misdiagnosis is real. But for these fake Christians to think that every case, 100% of schizophrenia, is demon possession, I rebuke you in Jesus' name, and you are not my sister.

You blind, deaf, mute, heathen, that think you are saved. You need to wake up. Somebody needs to tell that to you right to your face, and that's what I'm doing right now.

Because somebody's got to say it, to help somebody wake up.

And you can give them the evidence, all the evidence in the world, and I can go through all these scriptures today, and this entire sermon, and still not change their stubbornness, and their pride.

It won't change a thing about the way they think, because they're right. They think. They think they're right. Ain't no way they can be wrong. Ain't no way they can be wrong as Christ. Amen?

It's a problem with pride, stubbornness, stiffneckedness. Amen? These religious people that gave Jesus a hard time all the time, it was the religious people.

It wasn't the atheists that was giving Jesus a hard time every day, but it was the religious people that was giving Jesus a hard time everywhere he went, everything he did, ever word, ever healing, ever action, everything he did, it was the religious people. Amen. That was giving him so much trouble, and it's the same thing it is today. Amen?

But this man is blind so that he may be healed to show the path of God. Amen? And let's not forget that we received the divine miracle confirmation of this sermon.

So you can say all you want to, that this is only my opinion, and that I'm wrong, but I received, I received the word from the Lord. Amen? I know the hand of God when I see it.

And let's look over here in just a couple of chapters later on in John 11 where it talks about Lazarus, and Lazarus died and Jesus raised him from the dead.

John 11 verse 1. Now a certain man was sick, Lazarus of Bethany, of the town community of Bethany, the village of Mary and her sister Martha.

It was the Mary who anointed the Lord with ointment and righteous feet with her hair, whose brother Lazarus was sick. So the sisters sent word to him, saying, Master, behold, he whom you love is sick. Lazarus is sick.

Now, according to this statement, Jesus knew Lazarus and was a good friend of Lazarus.

That Jesus loved Lazarus. There was a close relationship there. Of course Jesus loves everybody, but the way that this is worded is very clearly indicating that there was a special friendship between Jesus and Lazarus.

A special friendship, a close friendship. And verse 4, that when Jesus heard this, he said, This sickness is not to end in death, but for the glory of God, the glory of Theos, so that the Son of Theos, the Son of God, may be glorified by it.

That's the same expression with slightly different wording that we just read two chapters before about the blind man. That the sickness, the blindness, is for the glory of God. That if the glory of God, the power of God, would be shown, displayed, manifested.

But this time, it says that the Son of God may be glorified. That's interesting. Amen.

That's interesting because John 9, verse 3 says, so that the works of Theos, that the works of God, may be displayed in this man.

But here in John 11, it says, so that the Son of God may be glorified by it. Somewhat a little bit different. It's interesting.

Same thing. And really proves that Jesus is God. How those two verses are prepared, the wording is prepared, it proves that Jesus is God. Amen.

But notice that Jesus said the sickness will not end in death, but yet Lazarus did die. Was Jesus wrong? No, absolutely not.

But he was talking about the second death and the real death. Because the first death that almost everyone on earth will endure is only sleep.

And not permanent death, not eternal death, not what Revelation 20 calls the second death. The second death and only the second death is permanent.

That second death is annihilation, perishing, no longer existing in heaven or earth. No longer existing anywhere as if you had never existed in the first place.

Total annihilation. The total opposite of living forever in a burning hell, being tortured by demons and Satan, who even they themselves will die and perish and be like they never existed.

As long as you have a burning hell and people being tortured, as long as you have a Satan, a devil and demons, then there is no paradise.

The doctrines they teach in these churches and denominations is totally opposite of what the Bible teaches. Totally opposite.

We must accept the teachings of the Bible rather than.

And I would rather not anyone be doing anything on Parrhesia right now, the social media network, because it causes my computer to beep and interrupt me.
So please do not be clicking or doing anything on Parrhesia social media network right now. We need to be focused on the sermon.
We don't need to be doing two things at one time. We need to be listening to the word of God and focused on the word of God.

But he did die, Lazarus did, but it's not the permanent death, it's only sleep. And in the mind of Jesus that's all it was. Is Lazarus only going to sleep? In the mind of Jesus this is not death, but only sleep.
And that's what happens to everybody who dies in the first death in this world, in this life, and the Bible says that over and over and over repeatedly, so many times, just over and over and over, that it caused death in this life, sleep. It does that over and over and over and over and over and over and over and over again. So I don't understand these churches that teach that people are awake when they die.
That they're awake in heaven or awake in hell. When the Bible says so many, actually dozens upon dozens of times that it says that they're asleep.
It even says in Ecclesiastes that they have no knowledge nor even a reward when they die. They have no reward when they die.
That's what the Bible says if you would read it and believe it. The book of Hebrews says that all these saints died without receiving the promises.
They didn't get their reward. It says that the patriarch David is dead and buried in the ground, in the tomb. And that's where he is. And that's what the book of Acts says. He's not up in heaven. Our loved ones are not looking down upon us. Thank God. Amen.
How can they be in heaven and enjoying heaven and watching us? They don't make no sense.
If people were really already receiving their reward and already living in heaven eternally, that's supposed to be blessed.
That's supposed to be what they call paradise, but it's not. That's not what paradise means. It doesn't mean heaven. It means the garden.
That's what it means. That's the Greek word for garden. The garden of Eden. The restoration of the garden of Eden upon the entire earth.

People don't understand the most basic things because there are pastors who have taught them, who have taught them very little, are themselves.
Those pastors are extremely ignorant of the Scriptures. The blind lead the blind. That's what the Bible says. The blind lead the blind.
And that's what you see in all those churches. People ask me what church should I go to and I say don't go to any of them.
People say I don't go to church unfortunately. I say good. I'm glad you don't go to church.
If you went to a church where you were educated in the truth I'd be all for it. Amen. I'd be all for it if there was a local church in your community.
Anywhere. Where they taught nothing but the truth. But if you find it let me know because I have searched high and low.
I have searched and not found not one. And other people have searched and not found one.
Now I believe it does exist but it's very well hidden out there somewhere. I know that there are other true apostles and pastors and teachers, churches, denominations, not denominations but groups I mean.
They're out there. That they are so rare. So rare. So few. So very few. So very few.
I'm going to have to tell these people to get off the internet during the sermon.
That it's almost impossible to find the truth in this dark world. Amen. If you'd be honest with yourself and with God that's the reality.

But getting back to this right here. Lazarus went to sleep and God raised him. We have to remember that if even true and best friends of the Lord can die. Amen. Lazarus was a great friend to Jesus.
He was still able to get sick. It's not necessarily sin. It's not necessarily the devil. It's not necessarily always our fault. But this crazy woman Christine in Texas always wants to write constantly to say that every little bad thing that happens in my life or in this ministry is the devil.

And I should be not participating in this and that. I shouldn't have a dog. I shouldn't have a cat. That's unclean as I've seen to have a dog.

It's ridiculous crap that comes out of that woman's texting, emails. Ridiculous demonic crap.

She always wants to teach me what's right, what's wrong, what I need to do. What she needs to learn is to shut her mouth and be quiet and not say one word and listen and learn. Amen. A woman ain't supposed to be teaching a man. Amen. The Bible says for the woman to be quiet and to learn from the man and to submit to the man. This is what the Bible says. A lot of women don't like it but I can't help what the Bible says. It says what it says.

A woman has no business in teaching a man. Now of course a wife can share with her husband what she read. That's not teaching him.

She can say to her husband, I read this in the Bible today. I love this. This is interesting. It's opening my mind. It's helping me understand. It's helping me learn.

This is what I heard in the sermon. This is what I read on the website. She can share with him. But that's it. Amen.

They should be sharing with each other, husband and wife both, while they're reading and watching and listening to and learning. They need to be involved in each other's lives. They need to know why each other is listening and watching. That's a good thing. That's fine. That should be happening. But for a woman to email me and tell me that I'm sinful and I'm a sinful because I have a pet.

And every little thing that happens in the ministry, that every little thing that happens in my life is the consequences of my sin. That type of woman needs to shut her mouth and not email me at all.

She's not safe and she never hears from God. Ever. She may have heard from God years ago, but she is not hearing from God through these hundreds and literally hundreds of emails.

She needs to learn to shut up, be quiet and learn instead of trying to teach. And it's not just her.

There's a lot of women. A lot of women are having the same problem. I deal with this constantly.

Who is the pastor? Amen. Who is the pastor? Who has God chosen to lead and to teach His church?

Thank God He didn't choose the mighty and the powerful and the rich, but rather the underdog. Amen. His grace, His mercy, His choice. Amen.

Let's go over to Matthew chapter 19. Matthew 19. But again as we turn to Matthew 19 let's think about how we just read that. That even a friend of God can get sick and die.

Jesus could have ran over there or just sent word. Jesus could have just spoke the word and Lazarus be healed and not even have to go to sleep.

I think he was asleep what? Three days. Four days. So why didn't Jesus just go or just send the word, just say the word and Lazarus could have and would have been healed instantly and not have to be dead in the tomb for four days.

But as a greater miracle, a better miracle, a more amazing miracle, a greater display of the power of God that God did allow His friend to get sick and pass away for four days. It was a greater miracle.

We don't always understand everything of why God is doing something, but we have to trust His master plan and not condemn every person, every person, every situation as if it is sin because it's not always sin. Sometimes it is sin and many times it's not. Amen.

We have to be careful about that. Falsely judging, falsely condemning. We have to be very careful about that. That's a dangerous thing.

In Matthew 19 verse 11, but he said to them, not all men can accept this statement, but to those to whom it has been given, it is to those people that can accept this statement.

Verse 12 says, for there are eunuchs who were born that way. Eunuchs is men without testicles, without balls. There are eunuchs men without testicles who were born that way from their mom's womb and there are eunuchs who were made eunuchs by humans.

Their testicles were cut off. And there are also eunuchs who made themselves eunuchs cut their own balls off for the sake of the kingdom of heaven, meaning the kingdom of God.

He is able to accept this, let Him accept this. Let us think about this. A man without testicles is not natural. God's design is for every man, at least the majority of men, you would think it would be ever meant to have testicles.

That's part of what makes a man a man. He needs that for his hormones, very important for his testosterone, his masculinity, his strength, physical strength, physical appearance, his voice, everything about a man.

It's very, very, very, very important to the testicles. And that's God's plan and design and will. But, yet, Jesus makes an exception and says that there are some men without testicles for the glory of God. He doesn't use the word glory here but says for the sake of the kingdom, which is the same thing.

Whether you word it as for the sake of the kingdom or for the glory of God or for the manifestation of God, for the display of God's power or the display of the power of the Son of God, however you word it is all synonyms. It's all the same regardless of how you word it.

It is so that the kingdom of God, the kingdom of heaven is manifested, that God is manifested, his power is manifested, that God can use anyone, that God can speak through a donkey as he did in the scriptures.

That God can speak through the blind, the deaf, the mute, that God can speak through the underdog, that God can speak through the oppressed, that God can speak through anything and anyone that he wants to because he's God. Amen.

There are some men that cut off their own balls or had them cut off by a king or a master because it's part of God's plan for that man to be a servant rather than a leader. Amen.

For that man to be a slave or a servant or a apprentice, to be in servitude to a master, a man, a rabbi. When I say rabbi I mean Jesus because only Jesus can be called rabbi. Jesus said to call no man your rabbi.

But you can call a man your master because that's throughout the New Testament. Amen.

And even Sarah, the Bible says that Sarah called Abraham her own husband, master or sir. And it would have been master in that day and time.

Women don't like it but that's what she would have said. Of course it wouldn't have been English but it would be the same mentality is what I'm saying. Of course she wouldn't be using an English word master but the equivalent thereof with the mentality of the same mentality that would use the word master today.

And especially back in the 1800's and earlier the mentality of the word master. That's what she called her own husband. Because women used to have respect. Used to. Amen. Used to women believed the Bible and respected the Bible and obeyed their husbands rather than arguing and fighting with their husbands.

Women today think they got to have their own mind, their own career, their own money, this and that and a wardrobe so big that they need an entire bedroom to fit just their shoes.

Don't get me wrong there's a lot of problems with men as well. The demonic obsession with football, other sports and other things. Men have their problems too. And a lot of men are wimps.

And a lot of women submit themselves to the females just for sex. Or for peace of mind. Amen.

So there's problems with both genders. The whole world is corrupted. Amen. We live in a corrupted upside down world.

And we have to face that reality when it comes to sickness, mental illness, schizophrenia and why does God allow even his own people even within his own church to lose their mind.

To develop schizophrenia or cancer or HIV or something within his own church why does God allow this to happen within his own flock, his own sheep.

And the answer is that we live in a corrupt world. This world is corrupted on every level, every aspect. And God has not chosen to just take us out and just take us immediately to heaven.

And it's not going to happen that way. Just to fix it. He's not going to just snap his finger and it be done. Because he wants us to grow up, develop character, become a strong individual, strong people, mature people.

If he was to snap his finger and do everything for us and treat us like infants we would never grow up. In his wisdom he practices tough love.

That we work it out ourselves. Even our healing. Many times working it out with natural remedies and working out our salvation with fear and humility.

Having the fear of the Lord. Having to fast. Needing to fast. Needing to cry. Needing to feel the pain and the agony. Needing to lose some battles.

So that we grow up. So that we're not spoiled rotten. So that we're not spoiled little babies. Running to mommy and daddy for every time we need something.

That we grow up and become strong, mentally strong, emotionally strong, physically strong by not relying on God to do everything for us and heal us every time.

There must be trial within his own church, his own people, his own children. Tough love is good for us.

And the reality as well. That Satan kidnaps this world. Satan did kidnap the human race.

And this world has all, the entirety of this world has been kidnapped by one of us. We live in a world that is ruled by Satan.

That make no mistake about it, God still owns the earth and the inhabitants. That Satan is a prince, a governor of the earth as an archangel. As the primary archangel.

Satan rules the earth and God has a plan within that. Within that fact itself God has a plan to allow you and me to see the corruption, the sickness, the schizophrenia, the cancer, the HIV, whatever the situation may be.

The back pain and the poverty and surgeries and sickness and rape and death and disease and robbery and burglary and all kinds of manner of evil in this world.

That is all the consequences of mankind saying to ourselves and to God, "I know better than God. If I was God I would do it definitely."

Very proudly. That's taking the forbidden tree. That's taking the forbidden fruit. That is saying to yourself, "God said this, God said don't eat this, God said don't eat that.

The weed or don't consume the weed or don't smoke the weed, whatever it was in the garden of Eden. 'Don't do that.' But hey, it looks good to me. I won't get sick, I won't die.

The devil says he knows better. I'd rather trust myself and the devil both rather than trust God as two against one."

And you made the same decision that Adam and Eve did. We all did that. We all said subliminally in a different way but it was the same thing. It was feminine but it still meant the same thing.

I do it my way. It's my life. It's my body. It's my music. It's my t-shirt. It's my group. It's my friend. It's my best friend. He's my friend. She's my friend. Friend, friend, friend, friend, friend, friend.

We have all chosen humans, clothes, music, sex, drugs, rock and roll, whatever it may be. We have all chosen our own will.

And God said okay, if that's what you want, you can have your own will. You can have your own teams. You can have your own presidents. You can have your own political parties and suffer for it.

Because only by doing that, you're going to learn that you made the wrong decision. Amen.

All these sufferings must happen even within his own church to continue to remind us and continue to teach us and to really get us to start really comprehending the corruption of this world.

And that we may thirst and hunger even greater for paradise, for God's kingdom, for God's justice to come to this earth instead of praying for peace all the time.

Instead of praying that God would save America and God would bring a revival to America, what we need to be doing, what God is trying to get people to do is to get down on their knees and cry.

And to despise this world and to seek the kingdom of God. Instead of saving America, what we need to do is let go of America and say, thy kingdom come Father.

Because Trump ain't going to save anyone. Trump ain't going to save America. Even DeSantis ain't going to save America. The Republican party ain't going to save America. Ron Paul ain't going to save America. No politician will save America. It ain't going to happen. You might as well get it in your head.

Things are not going to get better. Instead of praying for peace and victory, what we need to be praying is for destruction of these politicians, of these political parties, of these evil people who have brought the vaccine upon us.

We need to pray for the destruction of the wicked organizations. We need to pray for earthquakes, tornadoes, whatever it takes for the judgment of God to come upon the wicked.

That's where God is trying to get us to and people are so rebellious and so baby-like that they just want to suck the TV and drink the milk.

And the churches and the pastors are very, very, very, also very much responsible for that baby-like mentality, pacifism. Peace, peace, peace, peace, peace.

The pastors, churches, denominations and the sisters and the wimpy men who act like they ain't got no balls are very responsible for trying to get everyone of us and for programming and brainwashing everyone of us to be wimpy, wimpy, wimpy. Amen.

Getting back to this. Eunuchs. The natural ways for men to have testicles and a manly voice and a manly activity, manly desires.

That's the way God designed it and yet Christians are constantly cutting down men for acting like men, for being men, for having balls, for having hormones.

But God has chosen some men to remain virgins which goes completely contrary to the natural realm and to the majority of humanity of what God's will is for the majority of mankind.

There are exceptions. There are exceptions but there's a lot of fake Christians out there who think that everything is black and white and there's never exceptions for anything.

There's a lot of people like that. I've talked about exceptions quite a bit over the years. Amen.

But a lot of Christians would judge a man who decides to cut his own balls off. Now of course we are completely against the sexual dysfunction, the sexual confusion of the transgender movement and homosexual agenda.

Of course we are against those things 100%. However, there is a very, very, very rare event where people are born with both sexual parts or half of a sexual part or whatever different things, different dysfunctions.

I knew a man one time back in my teenage years in North Carolina, Greensboro, High Point area. No, that was not still. Later on I guess it would have been in my 20s.

That there was a man who had been born with the penis and the testicles but as he grew into a teenager he developed women's breasts and as a man had real women's breasts fully, complete.

Not man boobs but real women's breasts. But yeah, a man's penis. And it wasn't surgery. It wasn't his decision. It wasn't his choice. It was God's design for a human.

Can we judge him for any sexual activity? I don't think so. Can we judge him for any decision choice wise that he makes about sex and different things? I don't think so because we've not walked 10,000 miles in his shoes. Amen.

As I've talked previously in the past, people don't like it but I don't care. As I've talked previously in the past about prostitutes, as Leroy Jenkins did, God rest his soul.

Leroy Jenkins said one time when I went to one of his crusades that he had spoken to a minister, a preacher a long, long time ago way back when. He said that preacher was putting down the prostitutes, preaching against prostitutes.

And Leroy Jenkins said to that preacher, have you ever been a prostitute? No. Have you ever been with, laid with a prostitute? No. Have you ever known personally of your sister being a prostitute or anything like this? No.

Well then shut up because you don't know nothing about it. That's why Leroy Jenkins told that minister and he was right. Amen.

A lot of preachers and so-called Christians out here want to throw around their judgement and their condemning and their teachings and everything else. And I know what the Bible says. I've read the Bible.

But things happen in this corrupt world. You don't know what that girl or what that boy has been through in their childhood, in their teenage years, in their twenties, in their thirties, or what they was born if you haven't seen them completely naked. You don't even know what they've got between their legs. You might think you know what's between their legs but maybe you don't really know what's between their legs.

Maybe you don't really know everything. Even though you've been to seminary and even though you went there and you went here and you went here and you went there and you saw. Maybe you still don't know everything. Maybe you're still wrong about some things. Maybe you still need to just learn. Amen.

This world ain't perfect. It isn't perfect. We need to have a little bit of mercy and grace on people. Amen.

A lot of times we don't know what somebody's been through to develop them into what they have become, what their parents did to them. We don't know that. What happened last night to that person, we don't know that. We've not walked 10,000 miles in their shoes. Amen.

Let's think of the book of Job. I'm not going to turn there. But I think everyone of you listening to me are very, very well knowledgeable about the book of Job. It's very simple.

Job was a righteous man. A good man. A friend of God. Amen. He was a true friend of God. He was righteous. Now of course he had some type of sin because only Jesus was totally without sin. Only Jesus.

But the sins of Job was not what brought on his calamity, his sickness, his poverty. Everything that happened to Job. And Job, his own wife, his children died, was killed. He lost all of his farms, his animals, all of them.

He lost everything. He became sick, tortured with physical illness, sores upon his body. He was at one time a king and very, very extremely filthy rich and came down to poverty and sickness and disease.

Your average Christian today would look upon the same situation today and say he sinned. Just like his friends planned. Three friends. Not just one, not just two, but three friends, so-called friends of Job that wrongly condemned him, wrongly judged him and thought that automatically it had to be Satan.

That it had to be sin. That it had to be something that Job did wrong. It wasn't his sins that brought those plagues upon him.

But God wanted to prove to Satan that no matter what happened to Job, he would remain faithful to God. He did pass that test. And he was restored of additional lives and additional children and cattle and property and health and more in the end than what he had in the beginning. Amen. We don't always see the finish line or the purpose of God or the real reason behind things all the time. We need to stop thinking that we do. Amen.

Our brother in this church is not demon possessed. He simply has schizophrenia. He had autism all of his life, undiagnosed, untreated.

And even though that's not the fault and sins of his parents and not his own sin, it is, I do still hold his parents accountable that they allowed him to go undiagnosed.

His entire childhood and teenage years and 20s, to see him, observe him every day, see him, his actions, his mentality and not get him diagnosed is inexcusable. I do hold them accountable for that.

And they should hold themselves accountable for that. They should be honest with themselves that they did not raise him correctly or any of their children correctly.

They themselves, those parents, need to grow up, humble themselves, repent, get on their knees and cry and realize they could have done a much better job. Amen.

I can judge that situation because I'm very familiar with the situation. A person who has the Holy Ghost, who has stood here and spoke the Word of God powerfully, who manifested miracles from the Kingdom of God, from the Son of God in this ministry over and over and over.

And did such tremendous, great works for the Kingdom and for the Church. Every one of you will benefit eternally, forever and ever, you will benefit from the works of Robert.

There's not a person that will come into the Church in the future that will not benefit from the work of God through Robert.

If there was ever a person, black or white, male or female, if there was ever a person that has done a great work for the Lord, it is him.

If there was ever a person that was committed to the Kingdom of God, to Jesus, it was him. And there's nothing that can erase that. That's written in Heaven forever.

And he will be restored in God's timing. It may be this week, next week, this month, next month, this year, next year, it might be three years from now, four years from now, a thousand and some years from now, but he will be restored.

Perhaps God needs him in prison or in a mental hospital or somewhere like that, something to witness to people there. Maybe that's God's plan. I don't know. I don't know everything. I don't know all of God's plan and every detail for every person and every individual of what God has planned for everybody. I don't know. I'm not God.

But I know that God will restore his own people and you can count on that. Amen. We will go through trials and sickness. We'll go through all kinds of trouble and tribulations in this world. We'll see it happen again. We have seen it happen. We will see it happen. This is the world we live in, a corrupt, decaying, dying world.

So be it. God will restore all things. God will restore his people and even the gates of the grave will not prevail against his church ultimately. At the finish line, Brother Robert will be there. He'll be with us.

We will dine with him again. We will drink with him again. We will feast with him again. We will worship with him again. He is our brother eternally. He has not fallen away from the church or from God. He just needs help.

A person who has the Holy Ghost, who is truly working for the Lord cannot, absolutely cannot be controlled by the devil, cannot be possessed by a devil, cannot be controlled by a devil.

It's impossible because the Holy Ghost and the devil both cannot fit in the same body at the same time. It's impossible. Our brother will be restored in God's timing. God is faithful. His timing is not always our timing. Amen.

I want to now share with you some symptoms of schizophrenia so that you yourself may recognize it in your own friends and coworkers and people that you may be associated with as well as the natural remedy for schizophrenia which is very well proven and very well effective in a lot of cases.

Maybe not every case, but a lot of cases that is a very effective natural remedy. But the problem is getting the person to cooperate every day on a regular basis with these natural remedies.

But first let's go over some of the symptoms of schizophrenia. Being paranoid. People can be paranoid of course without having schizophrenia. It can be a spiritual condition.

But sometimes paranoia is a symptom of paranoid schizophrenia and it would slowly progress sometimes and sometimes faster but sometimes it would very slowly progress over a period of years before it finally goes full blown schizophrenia.

Which can happen overnight or within a snap of a finger. It can happen very quickly with certain trigger things. Certain vitamin nutrition deficient, certain vitamins, certain foods, certain events, certain drinks, whatever can be a trigger to bringing on more quickly.

Thinking that people are out to get them, that everybody is against them, that people are watching, working, playing against them. Thinking that everybody in the town or everybody at work or everybody in the family is out to get them working together which is not logical.

For everybody in the factory to be working together against someone or everybody in the town working together against someone or other large group that's not realistic, that's not logical.

That they may think that everybody is working together in some type of a master plan of this large group of people working against them.

They may think that somebody poisoned their food or drink. They may be overly obsessed with symbols. Now realize that we have to be careful with symbols. We do have to be careful with symbols but we should not be overly obsessed with symbols.

Doing things that are totally unusual. Something that they never ever ever do. You might have known them for years and they've never done this before but they start doing things that are not normal for that person to do.

Illusions, hearing things, seeing things that are not there. Thinking that you said something that you didn't. You say one thing and they hear something totally different than what you said.

It's not the same thing as just mishearing you, misunderstanding you but rather totally different that their perception of reality is a completely false reality.

You might say ABC and they think you said go to hell. It's not a misunderstanding but rather a total, total perversion of reality.

Hearing things that you said that you did not say. A total change of behavior acting like they're demonically possessed when they're not.

As I said earlier, it does happen that some people are misdiagnosed. That maybe a doctor or psychiatrist or counselor or somebody thought it was schizophrenia because they don't realize what demon possession is or don't believe in demons or don't believe in God.

So they just don't know it's schizophrenia. So that does happen sometimes. But the reality is that's not every case. That's not every situation.

And the belief that it's every situation is religious legalism and is stubbornness to accept reality because the reality is that sometimes, many, many, many times the medicines that people are given can and does help.

It might cause them to gain a lot of weight. It might have that side effect. But it brings them back into reality which is a great thing, good thing.

A lot of people are successfully, very successfully treated with the drugs, the medicines given to them by the psychiatrist. That's documented. That has proven thousands upon thousands, maybe millions of people around the world having great, wonderful, blessing, healing success by taking the pharmaceutical drugs for the schizophrenia or the depression.

Or the bipolar or anxiety or whatever. And being helped. Of course we all hear about the horror cases, the bad cases. We all hear about that. We hear about bad doctors and misdiagnosed and wrong treatments and wrong dosages.

And sometimes when it doesn't work. And sometimes when there's worse side effects than just weight gain. I'm not ignorant. I know all this. I know these realities. Every case is different. Every situation is different.

We can't put a blanket statement of one general statement to cover everybody. Everybody is in a different situation. Everybody reacts differently to different things. Amen.

It's very ignorant to try to put one statement upon every situation. It's very ignorant and arrogant. Amen.

The total change of behavior may be demon possession but it may be schizophrenia. It could be even hormones can cause a total change of behavior. Act like a different person.

I've heard of women going into menopause and totally change them from a soft, gentle, kind, loving, compassionate girl into a monster.

Lots of women I've seen on the internet said that when they went into the menopause. I don't know what I said while ago but I'm talking about menopause.

A lot of women on the internet have said that when they went into menopause that they felt like they were going crazy. But it really wasn't going crazy. It was just their hormones were going crazy. Amen. This happens. Your hormones, your thyroid and even your male and female parts. These hormones, these different hormones are even deficient in

Which is actually not a vitamin but it's a hormone. Even though they call it vitamin D, that's incorrect term. It's a natural hormone.

Your hormones of your testicles, your vagina, your everything, your breasts, all the different things with your body and the foods you eat, what you drink, how much sun you get and don't get, how much exercise you get and don't get, how much water you drink and don't get.

All of these things can change you, how you act dramatically. Dramatically. It happens every day. It happens all the time.

Even sugar diabetes. I used to work with a woman a long time ago, way, way, way back when. That when her sugar would crash she would act like a little girl, just a little tiny girl.

She would act like a grown woman, 40's or 50's, 10 years old probably and she would act like she's 5 years old when her sugar crashed. It wasn't no demon. It was her blood sugar level.

Things like that can totally make you change and act like a different person. There's a lot of things that can happen to people, to anyone, even to a true Christian.

True Christians are not immune to problems with both thyroid and testicles and other hormones and vitamin D and different things and vitamin B deficiency. We're not immune to these things. Amen.

And I've also learned that up to half of the people with autism, which is a lot of people now, there's a lot of people, a lot of people have autism now because of the vaccine.

Because they're giving little babies vaccines and they've increased the number of vaccines that they give the infants, the little babies. They keep increasing the number of vaccines.

They keep increasing that of how much they give. That's why really people would be better to keep their zippers zipped up and not have children anymore.

It would be better because how dare that I would let my little baby be forcefully injected with this toxic poison that's causing almost everybody now to be born with autism.

It is huge, huge numbers that never existed like this in all human history. It is huge numbers that is multiplying by large measures every year. It's a very severe, very major serious problem.

It is definitely the vaccines for the most part as well as the soy that they're putting in almost all the food as well as the fluoride as well as all kinds of other things that they're poisoning and trying to destroy the entire human race.

That's the purpose. Satan is trying to destroy the entire human race. Especially the free world, the Israelite tribes. This is what Satan is trying to do to America, to destroy the Israelite tribes.

It's genocide. We must realize that and do whatever we can do to protect ourselves and be detoxing on a regular basis.

We need to make sure we have all the vitamins and nutrients we need which is why we don't need to be fasting constantly like some people try to do because they think it makes them more holy and it doesn't.

I'm not against fasting when we need to fast, when a person needs to fast. There's a lot of different situations when a person needs to fast. I'm not against it, I'm for it.

But there's some people that's holier than thou who think that fasting more than anybody else makes them more holy when it doesn't necessarily do that.

It could be just that they are religious freaks which is what a lot of people are instead of saints. A religious freak is not the same thing as a saint of God. It's two different things. Amen.

The autism is a symptom of a possible development in the future of developing schizophrenia because people with autism are 3.6 times more likely.

That's over 300% more likely to develop schizophrenia sometime in their life than other people without autism. That's a lot of people.

Now also I realize there's a lot of people that really don't have autism and they've been messed up on those. I know that happens a whole lot as well.

Because little boys and even little girls they have a lot of energy and then they expect them to sit in a public school all day long and be quiet and shut up and not say a word and act like dead robots.

I think when they do display a little bit of energy, a little bit of humanity to speak a word or their own opinion or to ask a question or to move a muscle.

Oh you've got autism. You're out of control. You need medicine. That happens constantly. That happens all the time. Many, many, many children are being messed up on those just because they're kids. Just because they're humans and they're not obeying to be a dead robot. Therefore they're being put on the drug.

I know that happens too. But then there are some people that really have been, that seem injured and do have autism.

Autism is a real thing. Schizophrenia is a real thing. Bipolar, depression is a real thing. These are real things. If you don't think they're real then maybe God needs to bring it upon you to wake you up to what makes you realize it's a real thing.

Maybe that's what needs to happen to you. Maybe you need to be afflicted. Some people need to be afflicted. Amen. That's just the reality. Some people need it. Some people need punishment from the Lord and chastisement from the Lord. Some people deserve it. Amen.

So if a person has real autism, there's a large chance that person could develop schizophrenia, especially if they were never diagnosed and treated. If they were neglected by their parents within that treatment that they should have received.

Other things. And I'll tell you one last symptom, although they're meaningless, is they may have one eye that goes to the side.

And sometimes there's a whole lot more severe in some people. And other people, the eye may be only occasionally to one side. Only one eye. Occasionally to one side.

And that may be from birth or from childhood or they may develop that in their teenage years or twenties. And that may have a lot to do with computers and video games, which also causes autism, not just the vaccines, but computers, internet, and video games being that own those electronics for your entire childhood, which is also the parent's fault. I know with the blindness, that's not the parent's fault. But when these parents allow their children to be on video games all day long, every day, every day, every day, and every day, and they don't have a stop to it, that is the parent's fault. And that does develop autism. And that does develop a lot of different problems involving the eyes, problems with the brains, problems with mentality. That's why there's a lot of children killing their parents. It's because of the video games. Absolutely.

Desensitizing people to humanity, thinking everything's a game, everything's a movie, everything's fun and play, nobody's really, really, really going to die. It's all a game. It's all video. It's all a movie.

Parents need to be parents. Parents need to monitor their children and take care of their children. And get them eyeglasses when they need it, get them shoes when they need it, make sure they're walking right, talking right, thinking right, behaving right.

And if there's something wrong, then they need to go see a specialist and figure out what's wrong. Get the proper diagnosis, get the proper treatment. That don't necessarily always mean to drug them up.

But parents need to be responsible parents. Amen. And that's a huge problem. That's a huge problem. There's a lot of people out there having babies that really shouldn't be allowed to have babies.

Because they're not taking care of their children. They're neglecting them. Or raising them with drugs, raising them. A person on drugs don't need to be raising a child. Amen. There's a lot of people that need their balls cut off. Amen. For the glory of God and for the sake of the children. Amen.

Alright, let's go over the natural remedies for schizophrenia. And this also works for a lot of other conditions of the brain.

Depression and so forth, bipolar, what they call mental illness, but really a lot of this is physical food and vitamin deficiency. That's not mental, that's physical, that's brain function that affects the mental and emotional outcome. Specifically, with schizophrenia, but could help other things, the person should take a vitamin B complex every morning. That's what it should say on the bottle. Vitamin B complex. A B complex every morning. First thing in the morning. If you're taking anything later in the day, it's going to keep you up all night.

It has to be taken only first thing in the morning with food. Absolutely with food. They must also take 100 to 200 milligrams of vitamin B6. Even though there might be already B6 already in the vitamin B complex, they still need on top of the vitamin B complex to take a B6 100 to 200 milligrams a day.

On top of that, they need to take a form of B3 and I'm probably going to mis-announce this. Niacinamide. Niacinamide. N-I-A-C-I-N-A-M-I-D-E. Again, N-I-A-C-I-N-A-M-I-D-E.

This will be written up in the sermon notes that I will post on the internet after the sermon is finished. I will put up these notes on the internet where you'll be able to read it in the newsletter and you'll be able to see that word.

A person with schizophrenia needs 1000 milligrams a day. 1000 milligrams a day. That means one gram of that particular vitamin is a particular special form of B3. Not just any form of B3, but it needs to be that form of B3. And all of these B vitamins need to be taken only first thing in the morning with food. In addition to this, they also need at least 3000 milligrams of vitamin C every day. At least 3000 milligrams of vitamin C.

They also need a small amount of zinc. Now, zinc you have to be extremely, extremely careful with. Because if you get too much zinc, it can make you have a lot of health problems. It can destroy your kidney, it can destroy your liver, it can totally change your behavior and cause you to act like you have schizophrenia and you don't have schizophrenia. That can be caused by too much zinc. Zinc can cause a lot of problems. Lots of different problems. So you have to make sure that you're not taking too much zinc.

But a person with schizophrenia usually needs more zinc. They're usually deficient in zinc. And you should not take more than 80 milligrams a day. And that may be too much for some people.

With zinc, you need to start as low as possible. As low as possible. And very slowly increase and never go over 80 milligrams. I would never take zinc without having a major problem that requires the zinc.

If you don't have a major problem, then never take a zinc supplement. Only take it if you're having a major problem with something that recommends a zinc and then take only a small dose.

A person with schizophrenia or any mental illness needs also vitamin E. And there are many different forms of vitamin E. You need to search it, research it, do your own research, find the most best form of vitamin E and take that every day.

And they also need a large amount of krill fish oil. Not just any fish oil. And not something that says Omega 3. Because if you take Omega 3, that can be from back seed, which is really bad for men.

Or it could be from something else. So Omega 3 is not what people need. Although they need Omega 3, you don't want a bottle that says Omega 3. Because those Omega 3s could come from a bad source. Especially men.

So what you rather need is krill fish oil. That particular type of fish oil, K-R-I-L-L. krill fish oil. K-R-I-L-L. Because that specific type of fish oil is the best, the number one best type of Omega 3 source, natural source that will give you the best benefit for your health.

Whether it's heart condition, your mind, your body, your skin, your eyes, cataracts, blindness, eye problems, skin problems, mental problems, brain function problems, any of these things, you need krill fish oil as well as vitamin E.

A person with schizophrenia must absolutely abstain from all caffeine and from alcohol. Because these things will. Alcohol and caffeine can very easily cause autism to develop into schizophrenia in larger doses.

If they come to have it, if they're drinking too often, then autism can develop into schizophrenia. Just from drinking Pepsi every day, Mountain Dew, tea, things like this every day, can develop that autism.

Or even manic bipolar depression can turn into autism if you're drinking caffeine every day. So you have to be very careful about that. Drinking coffee every day, stuff like that, can really destroy your mind over time.

Now coffee every day can help your mind or destroy your mind either way depending on your health situation. A cup of coffee every day can really actually help your brain and prevent autism, prevent Alzheimer's disease, prevent, not prevent Alzheimer's disease, prevent dementia, stuff like that.

But if you already have a condition that is sensitive to caffeine, then instead of the caffeine, instead of the coffee helping you, it will actually destroy you.

So a person with autism should never drink, or very rarely drink coffee, and drink only very small amounts, never do the heavy stuff, never do the espresso, stuff like that. You have to be very careful with it.

But like I said, a lot of people have had great success with mental illness and schizophrenia with these particular supplements. They have to take every one of these supplements. Not just one, not just two, not just three.

But let's count them here. The B complex is one, the B6 is two, the niacinamide is three, the vitamin C is the fourth supplement, the zinc is the fifth, the vitamin E, I think we're up to six, and the krill oil is up to seven, if I didn't miscount that, seven supplements and they have to have every one of them.

And they have to cooperate to take all seven of these supplements every day on a regular basis. And if a person does that, they might have great success. Everybody's different.

And they might need larger doses. They might need additional supplements, like garlic and kava kava, whatever it's pronounced, kava kava. There's other things they may need as well in addition to those seven, depending on the individual, depending on the person, depending on their condition.

So everybody is different. But there's a lot of success with these remedies, lots of success. And this needs to be getting out there more often. We're going to be printing out some flyers and putting it up on the internet sometime later this week, God willing, if I have time, because I'm extremely, extremely, extremely overworked. I don't have sufficient help. I don't have hardly any help. So to get hardly anything done at all is very difficult. I really need help here locally. I need assistance. I need help. I need co-workers in Christ. I need people to help in the work of God. I can do it all myself. Amen.

People are going to have to step up to the plate. And so I'm going to try to get this flyer done, educating people about schizophrenia, natural remedies, different things, the symptoms, so that you can do your part to take this out in the public parks, leave it on the park benches, leave it in the bus station, leave it in the taxi, leave it in the bus, leave it in the grocery store. Wherever you can find to get this information out there.

This is going to be one more among a million projects of this ministry. We have the anti-drug project. We have the men's ministry project, which I really need help with. We have the women's ministry, which I really need help with. We have the Alpha and Omega Bible, which I need more help with. We have so many projects ongoing, and this is just one more on top of all that. But I'm going to work for the Lord. Amen.

Because I don't see nobody else really doing it, so somebody's got to do it. Even if I work myself to the grave, somebody's got to do something for God, and I don't see nothing much happening, so somebody's got to do it. Please be praying for God to bring more laborers into the harvest. But even better than that, instead of praying that God bring other people, instead of praying that God bring laborers, let's pray that you become the next laborers in this work of God. Amen.

We need people right here in front of me where I can see you, hug you, talk to you, interact with you, because I'm not a computer profile. News flash. News flash. I'm not a computer profile. I'm human. I need a hug. I need a handshake. I need a smile. My wife needs this. Amen.

She needs sisters. I need brothers. We need brothers and sisters, both of us do. We need humans, not robots, not computer profiles. We need humans. Stand up and be a human. Be counted. Amen. Make something of your life that's more than just making a dollar. Amen.

Be a servant to the Lord, first and primarily be a servant to the Lord. Amen. I know we all got to make money, I know we all got bills to pay, but first seek the kingdom and His righteousness.

Matthew, what is it? Matthew 5 or Matthew 6? 6. Matthew 6. Seek first His kingdom and His righteousness. First, then all these things are added to you, all these treasures, all these things you need, the clothes, the food, these things are added unto you.

That you got to seek first the kingdom and His righteousness. There's nothing more important than the kingdom and His righteousness. Nothing more important than that. Amen. Praise God.

Thank you for listening. Thank you for being there on the internet. I know that not every person can be here in person. People are in Africa, people are in Asia, Korea, Australia, wherever you may be, thank you for listening.

But I do pray for the Americans and especially the people in Tennessee to rise to the occasion to be here in person.

Amen. Because we need one another. And there's none of us, none of us, absolutely no one, that's going to be able to do this by themselves.

The great tribulation, the trials to come, none of us are going to be able to survive by ourselves. We need one another. You need me, I need you. It goes both ways. We need one another. Amen. We're supposed to be a family, we're supposed to be a church, one body of Christ, one faith, one baptism, meaning that we're all baptized the same way into the same church. That's what that means. Amen. This is God's will. This is God's way. This is God's truth. Amen.

Praise Jesus.

And I'll see y'all next Saturday. Let's see, is today the 9th? So actually I'll see you Friday because Friday the 15th is going to be the Feast of Trumpets, a high Sabbath, a high holy day, a very special holy day. Next Friday is September 15th, six days away.

So we'll be having service this next week on both Friday and Saturday, both at the same time, normal time, 10:50 am Eastern time zone, 10.50 am Eastern time zone.

And so that'd be two Sabbath days in a row, no work, no school on that particular Friday and Saturday of next week. We need to put God first.

And Feast of Trumpets is very, very important. You can read about it at isawthelightministries.com. isawthelightministries.com read about the Feast of Trumpets and how that's extremely important for the end time.

And for future prophecy is going to be very, very important for the end time Christians, for the true church of the Great True Relations will be extremely important.

And then the week after that, we'll have the Day of Atonement on the 24th, a day of fasting for 24 hours on the 24th, beginning at the sunset of the previous day is when we're going to begin our fasting.

And then we have the Feast of Tabernacles, the Fiesta of Tabernacles beginning on September 29th.

So we need to set up our tents the day before that or you need to travel if you're traveling out of state or out of town or to the other side of town, you need to travel on the day before instead of doing your traveling on the Holy Day.

So, September 29th is the Holy Day of the first day of the Fiesta of Tabernacles and all of these Holy Days are extremely important.

Then we have eight days of Tabernacles, only the first and the last day are commanded rest days. You can work the rest of the week if you have to, as long as you don't work on the commanded rest days.

But a lot of people, they try to just take off the whole week so that you can more participate in the Bible studies and field trips that we'll be taking.

We'll be going places doing things, we'll be doing survival class, we'll be learning, growing, fellowshiping, having campfires, roasting hot dogs, we'll be having hamburgers and grill out, cook out, fellowship and sitting around the campfire talking and catching up, getting to know each other, growing in the Lord.

This is what it's about. This is more important than the carnal world. Amen. Look forward to these days. Amen.

So, this is a busy month. Into October, up to October the 8th when we'll be taking the tents down, and then things will be setting them down a little bit.

Of course we have Hanukkah in December, or November-December has to check the calendar, and then we have parent over in March.

But things will pretty much settle down after we get past October 8th as far as having Holy Days.

Of course the world itself is not going to settle down. There's a lot of trials and tribulations that's going to come upon the people, and Trump ain't going to help nothing. Trump will never get back in office.

Anybody that thinks that Trump even has a possibility of getting an office, they need to check themselves because there is such thing that is called reality.

And there's a lot of people, a lot of Christians, a lot of conservatives that are not thinking logically.

They need to get down on their knees and cry and fast and ask God to help them think logically and come to reality.

Because all these people that think Trump is going to save America, they are not in reality. Maybe they need some beehives. Something's wrong with them. Amen. It's really idolatry is what's wrong with them. Idolatry, worshipping Trump as if he is the Messiah.

That's what it really is, just being honest with you. Amen. We've got to accept the reality that America has really already come to an end and we are living under a very dangerous and extreme illegal communist dictatorship.

And that's not going to change. We have to deal with the reality. Amen.

Okay, I'll say it again one last time. Thank you very much for visiting. See you all Friday. Amen.
