Let's go to Hebrews chapter 1 and this is March the 11th, the first day of the 13th biblical month. 13th biblical month. As we turn to Hebrews 1, what we're going to be talking about today is the scriptures in the stars. The scriptures in the stars. The scriptures in the constellations.

What page number? 772 for those that have the one volume.

772 for those that already have the one volume. Some people already got those already.

We're still waiting for the links to be established for a walmart.com and Barnes & Noble, but we're also hopeful to also get hopefully, maybe hopefully, most likely, I think, hopefully we'll be able to get another way that people can send payment for the Alpha Omega Bible to order it directly from us.

We're working on that. Please be in prayer for that. A way that we can accept the tithes and offerings and donations online. That would be very helpful to the ministry so that we can do a greater work. Amen.

Scriptures in the stars or scriptures in the constellations. This is what we're talking about today. Scriptures in the stars, constellations.

We have preached this before. It's been quite a while, I think. And it's important to go back to things we've already preached before because we have always new people coming in.

And it's also good, even for those that have heard the sermon years ago, already read the article years ago, for refreshment. Amen.

A refresher course to be reminded. So that as the subject comes up, because it will eventually somehow, some way, sometime or another come up in our conversations with people, rather on the internet or in person, it'll come up sooner or later.

Or at least an opportunity for us to bring it up. Because it is a great witness to the existence of God.

That He wrote the scriptures in the stars, in the constellations. Not only in writing from the apostles and prophets in the books and the agent scrolls, but also up in the sky for the people in the jungles, for the people in civilizations before the printing press, for civilizations that did not have the English-speaking people and the Greek and Hebrew-speaking people evangelizing them.

Civilizations, tribes that were hidden away in the corners of the jungles, out of reach of the Israelites, they still had the gospel preached to them in the stars.

And they paid a lot of attention to the stars. They didn't have TV, they didn't have internet, praise God.

Lucky them or blessed them, we should say. They didn't have lights blocking the stars, so they were able to see more stars than a lot of us are able to today.

Very blessed indeed. And they had an opportunity to know God in that. Amen.

Hebrews chapter 1 verse 1 says that Theos or God after He spoke long ago to the forefathers in the prophets in many portions and in many ways. Amen.

God spoke to people in many different ways, many different ways. It's not one way along of the way that he spoke to people. And that he can speak in many different ways.

I know that many times over the years he has spoken to me through movies, TV shows, the news, world events, and out of the mouth of people talking to me.

And through people posting on the internet, the memes and so forth, certain memes or the certain post that would come up at specific times that could not be coincidence of when it was posted and what they said.

It was God. And God was moving through those people when they posted that. They may not have known that it definitely was God at the time moving in their minds and hearts to write those words, but it was. Amen.

God speaks to people in many different ways. Amen. And let's go over to Romans chapter 1.

And if you have that one volume and you're still getting accustomed to finding the chapters and the books of the Bible in the one volume or in the two volume, we do have of course the index, the table of contents at the beginning on page 1.

So page 3 of the table of contents to help you to quickly find where Romans is and in the one volume that is page 726.

Romans chapter 1 verse 1. Paul, who was actually called Paulos, a bondservant of Christ Jesus, called an apostle set apart for the gospel of Theos, which he promised beforehand through his prophets in the Holy Scriptures.

But now let's go down to verse 18. Verse 18 we're going to read through verse 25.

Verse 18, for the wrath of Theos is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of people who suppress suppress the truth in unrighteousness because that which is known about Theos is evident within them, for Theos made it evident to them.

For since the creation of the world, his invisible aptitudes, his eternal power and divine nature has been clearly seen being understood through what has been made the creation.

So they are not without excuse. Amen. For even though they knew Theos, they did not honor him as Theos or give thanks, but they became fertile in their speculations and their foolish heart was darkened.

Professing to be wise, they became fools and exchanged the glory of the incorruptible Theos for image in the form of the corruptible man and of birds and four-footed animals and crawling creatures.

Therefore Theos gave them over in the lust of their hearts to impurity so that their bodies would be dishonored among them.

For they has changed the truth of Theos for a lie and worshipped and served the creation rather than the creator.

And that creation is sometimes in their worship of those birds and four-footed animals and sometimes in the planets and stars and even the earth or even people.

The creation is all these things and they worship and serve the creation rather than the creator who is blessed forever.

This is true. Amen. So there's a lot there. Amen. To sum it up, the gospel in the stars and the constellations. People are without excuse.

The people in the jungles, the people outside of modern civilizations, the people of ancient times and people of today are without excuse.

The scientists, the atheists and the markers are without excuse. People try to make excuses for the loss.

People try to say that they never heard it before. The reality is that there are tons and tons and tons of Jehovah

Witnesses on this earth scattered throughout the planet and many different nations that are telling people that Christmas is pagan.

There's also seven-day Adventist congregations, churches scattered throughout many different nations across the earth telling people that Sunday is not the Sabbath and is not the day of worship.

And even though both of those groups are cults and are not true Christians, nevertheless they have elements of great truth and they are well known throughout the nations these groups are.

And both groups are great at evangelism, awesome at evangelism. Amen. So the people are without excuse. And even if it wasn't for those two different groups, you've had many other churches and ministers that went throughout Korea, China, Russia, Africa, South America throughout time that even though those ministers did not have all truth, they had elements of truth that were seeds that were planted sufficiently that a person in any of those regions could had grabbed on to that seed of truth and then grown with it even as all of us listening today.

We did not start with all of the truth all at one time, all in one day. Amen. We had elements of truth. We had points and principles of truth.

We had pieces of the puzzle without having the full puzzle yet. Amen. We either started with the truth of the Sabbath or we started with the truth of something else that we didn't have all the truth yet.

And every one of us had to go through a journey of many years of learning and unlearning and learning and unlearning and getting a little bit there and again they're getting a little bit here before the pieces of the puzzle came together to bring us to a greater measure of truth. Amen.

But we were seeking and we was willing to accept points of truth, seeds of truth, so that we could grow over time and find more of that truth.

A person must be willing to consider the facts, the evidence. A person must be willing to seek.

A person must be willing to love the truth and that's the problem. Most people don't love the truth even if they claim to. Most people don't. You know that's the truth.

Right here talking about the creation and it says, let's see up here in verse 20, for since the creation of the world his invisible attitudes, his eternal power and divine nature has been clearly seen when they looked at the stars, when they looked at the constellations.

That gave them evidence, proof that there is an almighty God and they knew that. They knew that the Asian civilizations knew that the constellations were proof of God.

You rarely had an atheist in ancient times. They believed in God but then it says that what happened to them is that they traded the true God for the worship of the creation itself.

But they first, at some point of time, did recognize that there was a creator of those constellations that eventually became too obsessed with the constellations themselves and started worshipping that.

That's what has happened with the cross. That is what has happened with the King James Version, how people at first, at one time, recognized it as being a form of Scripture, a translation of Scripture, but over time became obsessed with the King James Version as if it were the only translation of Scripture or as if it were the original Scripture.

And people that are King James only, they literally worship it as if they are worshipping God.

Many people do that with the cross. Many people do that with Mother Mary. Mary is evidence of God but they have started to worship the creation rather than the creator. Amen.

But the people are without excuse. Native American Indians did this. Other tribes across the world did this.

The scientists do this. Any of them. So this is really talking about a lot of people, that they are all without excuse.

These verses here are very evident that the creation witnesses about God. The creation witnesses about God. Amen.

Let's go over to Revelation chapter 12. Revelation 12 verse 1. Revelation 12 verse 1.

A great sign appeared in the sky. A woman clothed the sun and the moon under her feet and on her head a crown of 12 stars.

This is very clearly a constellation in the sky, in the dream. And verse 12, or in a vision, in verse 2, and she was with child and she cried out being in labor and in pain to give birth.

Now we know that this is referring back to Isaiah 66 as it says in the footnote in verse 2 of the Alpha and Mega Bible and actually verse 1 footnote says it refers back to Genesis 37. So both of those places. Isaiah 66 and Genesis 37. The tribes of Israel.

The sun refers to Jacob who was renamed Israel. The moon refers to the Syrian mothers of Jacob's children and the 12 stars refer to the 12 tribes of Israel.

But we also see because verse 2 that she gives birth and we know it's birth in one sense birth of the nation of Israel to those 12 stars to those 12 tribes to Israel to the Israelites and then eventually as you go into other verses verse 5 and on down the chapter the symbolism of that woman changes from the agent tribes of Israel and then gets changes over into the symbolism of Mary herself giving birth to Christ.

As you go on down the chapter the symbolism continues to change to where there is a church that the symbolism of the woman was Israel and then Mary giving birth to Christ and then the church.

So the end of the chapter the woman is the church. Israel is the church. Israel is the church. The church is spiritual Israel and then the church is spiritual Israel and then Christ the one that connects he's the door between the physical Israel and the spiritual Israel.

He is the door, the doorway, the gate between physical Israel and spiritual Israel. Amen.

But the constellation told the story. Revealed it. Amen. The constellation is Virgo. The constellation of Virgo. Virgo means the Virgin. Mary the Virgin.

Why is the constellation of Virgo which is let's see what we end is that September September the 11th is in Virgo September the 11th is sometimes some years of the time of the Feast of Tabernacles and that is within the timeframe of a Virgo.

Jesus was born under the sign of Virgo. The constellation the zodiac symbol of Virgo the Virgin and not only was he born of a virgin he died a virgin as well.

He was born a virgin died a virgin. Born of a virgin and died a virgin. Amen. So I mean that's very significant that's mind-blowing.

What churches what ministers what pastors have you heard in your life tell you that Jesus was born under the zodiac sign of the Virgo because that he was a virgin and born of a virgin.

That's mind-blowing and if that can be true for him that his zodiac sign be important for Scripture then I believe that that would not be the only constellation that reveals a piece of the puzzle in the sky a piece of the gospel piece of Scripture.

I do not believe that it would be the only constellation and if that be true for Him and His life that His zodiac sign would be relevant to His lifestyle and His characteristic and His mindset and God's plan for Him, the plan of the Heavenly Father, the greater measure of Himself that exists in all the universe, the plan for His son the plan for His seed, the plan for His finger upon earth. Then so shall also be other zodiac signs not only given pieces of the puzzle of Scripture but also being relevant to our lives today.

Now I know when we get into this area, a lot of people always want to bring out words such as New Age and witchcraft and all that stuff. I understand the concern, and I definitely have examined myself on this issue more than once, very thoroughly, very sincerely, willing to repent, willing to turn around, and willing to confess, willing to do whatever the truth may be and wherever God leads me.

But with that sincere examination, I have also repeatedly come out to the very same conclusion: that this is accurate. We can't deny that the lifestyle of God and God's plan for His Son was very relevant to His zodiac sign.

And also I can't deny that when I look at my own constellation that I was born under of Scorpio and Libra being on the cusp there, that being on the edge, that I could go on either date. But more so, I think the Scorpio being the actual horoscope sign that I fit a lot of the characteristics of what they say that a Scorpio person has, these characteristics, these traits, these aptitudes, as it said in that verse.

And that when I look at other people, I see the same thing. I see it being amazingly correct on other people, different people that I've looked up their signs.

Now, of course, I'm not saying that we should look in the newspaper or internet every day to see whether we should go outdoors or not. No, that would be crazy, that would be stupid, and that would be sinful as well as foolish. That's going overboard to allow a horoscope in the newspaper or a horoscope on the internet to allow such things to control your life of whether what day you go shopping and all these different things to control your life, that's going overboard, and that's being outside of the will of God, amen.

But at the same time, if we to look at what they say are the characteristics, not how you live your life, not what you do that day, but the characteristics of those traits, those traits of that people born under that particular constellation, then we can see some benefits and some edification because it will show us our strengths and our weaknesses. So that we can work on those things.

And it's not always a hundred percent accurate for two reasons. One of the reasons is because all of us have gone astray from God's plan at some point of our life. Every one of us, every one of us, and some people more than others, amen, that we have all gone astray from God's plan.

But when we come back into his will for us, the even that is a journey of becoming more and more and more into the sooner of his will every year. We don't become a hundred percent in the century of Israel in one year. We just simply don't. We don't. It's a lifetime journey of drawing closer and then closer and then closer and getting things that are outside of Israel out of our lives. It's a process. It takes time. So because of that, we're not going to fit the description a hundred percent of what it says is our sign, our car, our traits, and our characteristics for that sign. Because we've gone astray.

But the other reason is that a lot of those people that write those descriptions are not really knowledgeable. Some of the people, especially the newspapers, some of those people really don't know what they're talking about, and they're just really trying to meet a deadline, and they're just throwing stuff in there at random.

But then another reason, even a third reason, is that who we were at one time is not who we are now, and we have free will. So it's not written in stone that if we had a particular weakness, that we have to keep that weakness. We do have free will to improve ourselves.

And also, on that other side of the coin of that same reason, is as possible that that God gave us strengths, or that we developed strengths, but yet we didn't exercise those gifts. And therefore, we don't really see those strengths in ourselves either because we fell out of God's will out of the past that God had designed for us because something that somebody did to us or of our own will so forth. But there are multiple reasons really why we would not fit a hundred percent of the descriptions.

But when I look at myself and other people and look at those characteristics, those traits of their constellation of what they were born under, I see remarkable evidence of truth, of evidence of proof that there is something to it, even if it's not perfect, that there's something to it that we can't deny.

Now, people would say, "But it's of the devil." Who created the stars? Who created the constellations? Who put the constellations in the order that they are by month and by design, by picture, by dot, by dot, by dot, by what they draw? Who created all of that? Who created even the names of the stars and constellations? People would say "Scientists did, no, scientists did." According to the Bible, we're going to read this here in a minute, that God named them. God did. These names of the constellations and stars go back way before the time of the telescope, amen. They do. The names of the constellations and stars go back way before the invention of any telescope. The origin of these names really belongs to God. And the Bible does speak of constellations right here in this chapter, in this verse, a scripture, a holy scripture by John. And John is very reliable, amen. But John is very reliable, and it speaks of a constellation.

And let's go over the book of Matthew, Matthew chapter 2, Matthew 2 verse 1.

Now, after Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, astrologers, which is translated as Magi in other translations, astrologers from the east or Magi from the east arrived in Jerusalem, saying, "Where is he who has been born king of the Judeans? For we saw his star in the east and have come to worship him."

And astrologers, these were not witchcraft people. They worshiped the true God. And how did they know that the king had been born is because of the stars, amen?

And these were experts, astrologers. These were people that looked at the stars, the constellations on a regular basis. That's what they did. That's what they were known for. They did this all the time.

This is mind-blowing. If the same event of astrologers happens today, the Christian world would be calling them witches because they looked at the stars and constellations on a regular basis and put a lot of attention, lots and lots of lots of attention to the stars and constellations.

They would be called witches today by almost every pastor and over almost every Christian on this earth would call these same men sorcerers. But it does not say sorcerers, amen. It doesn't say the sorcerers came, but rather the Magi or the astrologers, amen. The Bible doesn't call these sorcerers.

Very interesting. How do they know? I tell you this, it wasn't by surprise. They were waiting for it. It wasn't by surprise.

It wasn't that they just one day were looking at the stars and lo and behold, "Oh, wow, there's a brand new star that we never saw before and this is what it means." Bullcrap, bullcrap. They were watching and reading the story of the gospel in the stars.

The Greeks and other people throughout time civilizations drifted away from the original understanding of the stars and constellations and started using wild imaginations and adding their own stories and changing names and changing stories.

And the stories became more and more farther and farther away from the original story that was written in the stars. So just because certain civilizations have corrupted the meaning of the constellations doesn't mean that there wasn't at one time a good and holy story written in those same constellations.

What we know today of Greek mythology of Hercules was most likely originally Samson, the strong man. I believe that when we look at the constellations of Hercules that it is telling the story of Samson.

There's a Bible publication called the Bullinger's Bible. The Bullinger's Bible is well-known. I have a copy, have had a copy for many years thanks to an old friend from Texas named Mark. At one time that he was my friend, we fell away from each other because unfortunately he refused to repent of the letter Y names. So we had to distance ourselves from each other. Very sad.

But when we were friends, he had sent me a copy of the Bullinger's Bible, and it has a section in there, Appendix 12, which you can find on the internet, which we do have already have a link on the ministry website.

We also have a search engine. We just updated that search engine just in the past few days on the entire website. That search engine has been updated and changed over to DuckDuckGo, and you can use that search engine on the bottom of the page on every page of the website. And now it's also that search engine is now also on the AOB Alpha and Omega Bible website as well on the bottom of every page, every chapter of the Bible of the Alpha and Omega Bible website.

You now can search for words within the AOB from the website as well as topics. But you can type in there Bullinger's Bible and find that link and to this particular appendix that take you directly to that section of Mr. Bullinger's notes about the constellations. And he believed in the story of the gospel, the scriptures, and the stars.

Now, Bullinger's Bible is a King James Bible. It's not a different translation, but rather as a study Bible that gives you study notes, publisher notes about Hebrew words, Greek words, interpretation of scripture, stuff like that.

And it's useful for some of his interpretations and for his knowledge of some of the ancient words. It's very useful for deep Bible study because of his notes, not because of the translation, but because of his notes that are throughout the scriptures.

And his notes about the scripture in the stars, talks about Hercules really truly being the story of Samson, and many other constellations that he talks about in his notes there, not just that one, but actually quite a few examples that he gives about different constellations and the story of the gospel, how it was written in the stars.

And not only Mr. Bullinger from the 1800s, but also a lot of other people, there's actually more than you would think that has an understanding that the scripture was written in the stars.

Let's go over to Genesis chapter 1, Genesis chapter 1, verse 14. Then the Theos said, "Let there be lights in the expanse of the universe to separate the day from the night, and let them be for signs and for seasons and for days and years." Notice it's not just for a clock, not just for a clock of days and weeks and months and things like that, but also for signs. Signs.

Revelation 12 is a perfect example of how these lights in the universe are a sign. And there, this is relevant to us this month and next month as we have the comment that is coming into visibility of the naked eye right around the time of parent. I would say that is a light in the sky that is for a sign.

And they will also have the lunar eclipse coming up, which I think is that also, yeah, also on parent at the same time. Lunar eclipse on parent at the same time that the comment, which looks like a star in the sky to the naked eye, looks like a star and that or even with binoculars looks like a star is for a sign, amen.

So this is relevant to our life. This is relevant to our life. God wants us to look up at these signs in the sky to learn things. That's not witchcraft. To look at creation and learn, that is not witchcraft. We're not going to be praying to the stars. We're not going to be praying to the constellations. And we're not going to be checking the horoscope to see whether or not we can go shopping at the store that day or not, amen. But rather, we are looking and learning at what God made, amen. Nothing wrong with that.

Let's look at Psalm 147, Psalm 147, verse 4. He numbers the multitudes of stars and calls them all by names. God does, according to the person who wrote this song, these two people. That it means they believed that God called all of them by names.

And where it says multitudes of stars, you could take that in two ways. You could take that as being that there are billions of stars or you can take that as being that there are constellations of stars being multitude is a constellation. You could take it that way as well. But either way, it don't matter. That God calls them all by name.

If they were pagan names, He wouldn't call them by name. And then He's the one that named them.

And then look at Isaiah 40, in the book of prophets, Isaiah 40, verse 26.

Lift up your eyes on high and see, that means look, look at the sky. This is exactly what that means. Look at the sky. Lift up your eyes on high and see. Who has displayed all these things? Who did it? Who displayed it? Who drew it, amen? Even he that brings forth His host, His multitudes, by a number, He shall call them all by name by means of His great glory and by the power of His strength. Nothing has escaped you.

These verses are teaching us really basically what it's basically saying in different words is he named the them every one of them. They're important to God. And really what those stars and constellations are is our reward, our diamonds, our crown. And that that's what we're going to inherit. That's what we're going to inherit.

Our reward is not here on earth except for New Jerusalem. But our greater measure of reward is out there in the solar systems, in the galaxies, the planets and stars in that. Many times we work and we work and we work and we work and our reward is not in this life so much. But God will repay. He promises.

And some people I believe will be given only a neighborhood. Other people I believe will be given a nation. Other people will be given a continent, a planet, a solar system, or a galaxy for you to rule. Your reward will be authority, kingship. The creation was not made in vain or just as a decoration, but that is property.

Romans 8 talks about us as the sons of God, the children of God, that we will receive an inheritance, amen? Should we ignore our inheritance, turn a blind eye, say I don't care about it? We could look to the stars and be edified, or we can ignore them.

We could look to the stars and learn, or we could stay ignorant. We could look to the stars and come to know God more, or we could limit our relationship with God. We could look to the stars and learn more about ourselves, our strengths, our weaknesses, or we could be lukewarm and complacent. The choice is yours, amen?

Look at the book of Job, chapter 9, in the Wisdom books. Job 9, that right before Psalms, I think. Job, this, yeah, 372. Job is right before Psalms. Job 9, verse 9. He said, Job 9, verse 9, who makes the bear, Orion, the Pleiades, and the chambers of the south?

Now here, these are definitely constellations. And the scriptures use these specific names for these specific constellations. Obviously, Job didn't think it was witchcraft or wrong or pagan to recognize the names of the constellations.

And they, some people say Job was possibly written even before Genesis. Not that the events occurred before Genesis, of course not, but that the book itself, the scroll of Job may have been written before Moses wrote the book of Genesis. It is said to be the oldest book of scripture. Some people theorize. So even before Moses, that far back, these names existed. And Job writing it before Moses, if that's correct, if that's true, Job writing this before Moses wrote Genesis, that far back in history, Job recognizing the constellations really has proof of God, amen? Yes, he did recognize the constellations as proof of God.

I had a friend one time way, way back when, a long, long time, many, many, many moons ago, many moons ago, who was an atheist. And one night, was outside at night, looking at the stars. And I pointed out to him that the fact that each of these stars are so far away from each other, some of them are like light years, many, many light years, millions of miles away from each other. And yet from our perspective on earth, they look close together and draw pictures. Even though to us today, it takes much more of imagination, because we've not been trained in it and because we've not spent enough time and because we don't see every dot, every star, because of the lights of the city interfering, all these different things.

But the fact that they do draw all things, even if you don't recognize it, even if you yourself don't see it, Job saw it, other people saw it, the Magi saw it, the astrologers of Jesus time, they saw it, recognized the drawings, they recognized what it was, they recognized the story, they recognized the meaning, they spent a whole lot more time on it, they studied it, they learned it, it was taught, amen?

So when we look at and say, "I don't see nothing," that's because we're ignorant and haven't been taught such things that we should have been in school, amen? And from childhood. But these people that were, they were taught it from childhood, amen?

But I told him, "This is evidence of God because of how they draw things, even though they're millions of miles away from each other."

And he said to me that out of everything he'd ever heard in his life, that that did seem to him as the best proof of God's existence that he had ever heard, out of the mouth of an atheist, that the constellations were the best proof of God that he had ever heard in his life.

There is power in scripture. There is power in the word of God. There is power in the spoken word of God. There is power in the written word of God. And there is also power in the scriptures in the stars.

Christians today are so ignorant that they say that the earth is only 6,000 years old and that makes Christians look stupid when Christians believe it and teach and proclaim on the internet on Facebook and so forth arguing with people saying that the earth is only 6,000 years old.

It makes Christians look stupid and our stupidity is what is blocking a lot of atheists from accepting God. Our stupidity, amen? That's the God-to-honest truth. The stupidity and ignorance and false doctrines of the false church and false Christians, false pastors, they are blocking and hindering and they are a stumbling block and what does the Bible say about that, amen? They are a stumbling block that is hindering new believers, hindering people from becoming believers if we accept it, the scientific evidence that is overwhelming and solid that the earth really is millions or billions of years old then we wouldn't look so stupid.

Look at the Grand Canyon and not only the Grand Canyon, but look at meteor strikes, craters on the moon and on earth, different spots across the globe. There's so much evidence now.

Look at the Yellowstone volcano, super volcano, and other super volcanoes across the world that we know that the Yellowstone super volcano and other ones around the world did erupt at one time, massive, huge, mind-blowing eruptions that if there had been any human alive on the earth when the super volcano erupted, it would have killed them and all human existence and animal existence would have been wiped out.

So if the earth really is only 6,000 years old and if the humanity is only 6,000 years old and the earth is also both the same age as Christians claim, then when the Yellowstone super volcano erupted and we know it did, there is no debate to that, there's no denying that it would have killed the children of Adam and Eve.

The Grand Canyon is impossible that all of those multiple layers stacked up on layer on layer on layer on layer upon layer upon layer as impossible for that to be only 6,000 years old, there's so much evidence.

How the continents at one time were all connected, we know that for a fact as well, all the continents at one time were all together and they split apart.

How even the Appalachian Mountains here where we live in the Appalachian mountain chain of Eastern America, how that they are older than the Rocky Mountains. Older, now think about that. Now, the Rocky Mountains are much, much taller, much taller than the Appalachian Mountains, but the Appalachian Mountains came up from the ground, was shaken up from the ground, the ground was upheaved thousands of years or millions of years before that occurred in the Rockies, but erosion, wind, rain, storms, floods, hurricanes, tornadoes, earthquakes, all these different things have eroded away the majority of the height of the Appalachian Mountains.

At one time, the Appalachian Mountains were tremendously higher, much, much, much, much higher than what they are now. But because they are older than the Rockies, they've had more time to erode away with the wind and rain to where now they are smaller mountains than the Rockies.

That's evidence that's more than 6,000 years to erode away giant mountains. To erode away ancient mountains is more than 6,000 years. The ignorance and stupidity and foolishness of the traditional church is a great stumbling block to the gospel.

You know, I mentioned earlier how Jesus was born under the zodiac sign of Virgo the Virgin. That was very relevant to his life. I also mentioned the comet, the lunar eclipse at Purim, and how that's a sign for us of the end time that we just preached about just yesterday. It's relevant to us.

Not only do we have the, I guess you would call it, the Roman zodiac of Libra, Scorpio, all these different things, but there's also the Chinese zodiac where they go by the year rather than the month.

And I know that we must be tremendously careful. There are certain red lines that we must not cross. We don't trust Buddhism cults that do cross that red line of rejecting Christ as the Messiah, as God.

There are certain red lines we cannot cross because we are Christians, not pagans, not heathens, amen? So we must be careful, and indeed we are. We get an element, one point of truth that we find from that book or from this manuscript or from that group or from this other group.

But we don't embrace all of it. We don't embrace everything Jehovah Witnesses say. We don't embrace everything that the Seventh-day Adventists proclaim or everything that the Mormons claim, everything that the Catholics claim.

But each and every one of them has one thing, at least one that's true, that's correct. And the same thing with Buddhism or whatever in any other system out there.

Even though we have to be extremely careful not to cross red lines, not to embrace everything they say, each one has at least one thing that is true because the devil always has a bait of truth to draw people in.

And that's the problem, is that people find a little bit of truth in Jehovah Witnesses or Buddhism or Hinduism or the Catholic Church, and it's a bait that draws them in to be captured by that entire system and brainwashed by the entire system and fall for everything that they teach. We're not going to do that. But we can find that one seed of truth.

And the Chinese system, the Chinese zodiac, for lack of a better word, is when I look at it, when I compare it with my life, when I compare it with other people's lives, when I compare it with other people, their traits, their aptitudes, their characteristics, I see accuracy, a lot of accuracy.

Again, it's not going to be perfect because we've all gone astray and we all have free will, and it's not all of it written in stone. But I see a great deal of accuracy of saying, "Here are my strengths and here are my weaknesses, and here are my characteristics, the way I think, even my physical health, even my wife, her physical health, her mental health, different things like that, how it is reflected in both the Roman, I guess you'd call it, and the Chinese, and how sometimes those even agree. Some of the same things are written in both.

Some of the things are written in my characteristics for the Scorpio, it's also written in my characteristics for the monkey sign under the Chinese. That's mind-blowing to me. The ones that are the strongest, the ones that fit me the most, are written in both the monkey Chinese and the Scorpio. It's written in both places because those are my strongest characteristics, for both my strengths and my weaknesses. And it will fit more for some people than other people, like I said. And if that be true, then it be true. If this is correct, that that particular characteristic is truly my characteristic, well then that's a truth.

We use that to say, "Okay, but here's my weakness and I need to work on that weakness." That's how we use it. That's how a Christian uses it. And we say, "God, I see my weakness. I confess my weakness. I confess my flaws. Amen. These are my flaws, Father. Please help me with these things."
And we seek God. We seek Jesus. The Buddhists don't do that. Amen. The Hindus don't do that. Amen. This is what separates us from them. We say, "Okay, I see this now. Please help me with it, Jesus. Amen. Well, I see this now. Please help me with it, Jesus. Amen. Well, I see this strength. Please help me to use it, Father. Please help me use this strength for you. And that has helped me to use this strength for you, Father, for the kingdom, for the church, for the gospel. Amen."

And we see the comet. We see the eclipse. And we say, "Father, I see your hand in this. I see your hand in this. You're speaking. You're speaking. Amen. Let us recognize the hand of God wherever it may be. God can speak through the mouth of a donkey."

And let us recognize it when God speaks to us, whether it be in the stars, a dog, a cat, a monkey, the news, world events, something in a movie, a TV show.

I know that Hollywood by a large measure is of Satan. I know that the way we use electricity and the invention of electricity, the way we use it in all modern times, a lot of it, by great measure, is of Satan. So it is the internet, so our computers, so our phones. But yet, God allows us to rightfully use these things, elements of these things. Not all of these things. We have the internet. God allows us to use that for evangelism and for communication and for learning. But certain things, he does not allow us to use the internet for, to read things that are demonic. We have to draw the red line, to read things that go against the gospel. We have to draw the red line, things that deny Christ as being God. We have to draw the red line and say, "No, I'm not going to read that book. I'm not going to read that website. I'm not going to watch that movie. I'm not going to watch this. I'm not going to read this. I'm not going to pay any attention to this that denies Jesus as God. I am a Christian man."

And that's where a lot of people go astray, is they do not draw their red lines, and they get pulled in to those cults, those books, and those false religious systems because they simply don't fear God.

They simply don't fear God. They never fear God. They have no fear of God whatsoever at all. Therefore, they never draw a red line.

And I got to open up the chat room now. If you have any questions about anything I've said or on these topics, please feel free to ask your questions. We got the Mixlr chat room. You can also contact me text message, WhatsApp, Telegram. I'm looking at all these in the mixer chat room. I'm looking at all of these.

And our brother in Kansas says in the Boy Scouts or the Boy Scout law it says to be reverent, and one of the badges they get is identifying the constellations in the sky.

Cool, that is awesome, praise God. And it would be good to teach the children such things, you know, instead of the video games and all that. Children with phones don't make sense to me. They don't make sense to me. Children with Bibles make better sense to me. Children being read the Bible makes sense to me. Children being taught survival skills, edible plants, constellations, the scriptures, character. Children being given responsibilities to clean up the room, to put their toys away, so forth. These things make sense to me. Children, small, small, I'm talking about, I'm not talking about teenagers, of course. But children with phones make no sense to me. Unless it is a play phone, of course.

Looking to see if anybody has any questions or anything to say or a Bible verse that God laid on your heart this week that you find edifying that you would like to share with the church, testimony for the Lord. If you'd like to sing a song or read a song.

And brother Jared, you got anything? Brother Adri, his baptism coming up two years ago on the 14th this week. Congratulations, second year anniversary of rebirth, brother Adri in South Africa.

Okay, brother Jared, what you got?

"It's written over and over in the Bible and also by many of the early first-century commentators how the creation testifies of the Creator."

The creation testifies of the Creator. Absolutely, yeah. For the people that are on Parrhesia, I had just posted a pretty good website of some Christian group which has some awesome videos showing the size of the universe. If you're on Parrhesia and I've not seen that yet, I really encourage you to check that out. That website has a lot of good videos that are excellent for the seventh day, something to watch, something to do on the seventh day. That website has a lot of good videos.

There's a lot of benefit to Parrhesia social Christian network. A lot of benefit. People are really missing out if you're not participating in that social media group. You're really missing out on a lot of good content that we post there every day, a lot of very edifying and useful things: health remedies, natural health, prepping, and edifications from the scriptures. People are really missing out on that. And anything else.

"Oh, yeah, similar to how some of the so-called Christian groups are foolish by claiming that the earth is only 6,000 years old, which is ridiculous, not even biblical. They don't look at the evidence. But what is biblical is that the humanity and civilization being only 6,000 years old. They've tried for apparently thousands of years, these scientists have tried to find human civilizations older than that, and they make up ridiculous stories. Yet, they can't do it."

So scientists, they have some of it saying that humans are millions of years old. Their dating is wrong on that, as far as humans, because the scripture is clear about humans being only 6,000, a little bit over 6,000 years. Now, we don't know the exact number, but it's over 6,000 years now for humanity. So they're wrong on that aspect, but yeah, they're right on other things. So I would say we take the good points, we take the good seeds, and leave the rest alone.

"And then how you said how the foolishness of these so-called Christian groups is a stumbling block, many people become atheists because of seeing their foolishness. I had a similar experience myself with the Catholic Church. And it's interesting to note that the leaders of these false religions are literally Satan and fallen angels running around in white robes, using the name of Jesus in vain. And that's absolutely on purpose. Absolutely"

I know, amen. There are demons posing as ministers, for even Satan himself transforms himself into an angel of light. So you have to be careful what you read, what you listen to, what you watch.

A lot of people that call themselves Christians have no discernment at all and watch and listen to anything that they want to without seeking discernment and without seeking wisdom. Amen, very dangerous, very extremely dangerous. You have to be careful what you watch, what you listen to, what you read, what you allow into the gates of your soul. It's a very dangerous thing.

The Bible tells us over and over and over to hold guard, to stand guard over our hearts and minds. You have to be careful in that.

Okay, looks like I don't see any other comments, questions, anything else. So I'll see you Saturday. I'll see you the next seventh day. Thanks for listening. We'll put on a song, page 47. Well, I know what that's going to be before I see it.

"How Great Thou Art." Amen, page 47, "How Great Thou Art."
